Company Background

Annams Systems Corporation is a California-based organization. The corporate office is in San Ramon, California with regional offices in Sacramento, California and Reston, Virginia. We specialize in information technology consulting, planning and management. Our mission is to provide quality services driven by customer requirements. Our primary goal is client satisfaction and our principal strength is our professional consultants. We achieve our goals by engaging specialists who are talented in the required technology and skillful at solving both business and technical problems. Our reputation as a quality supplier of IT expertise is a testimony to our client satisfaction and this reputation earns us the highest compliment: repeat business.

Annams has served clients that range from Fortune 100 to start-up, entrepreneurial operations. We have experience with a wide range of state-of-the-art hardware and software environments. Annams' major strength is our people. Our experienced staff is comprised of the most competent IT professionals in our marketplace. Our consultants are excellent communicators who are carefully selected to ensure that they have the skills pertinent to the tasks at hand. Our reputation as a quality supplier of IT expertise demonstrates that our clients appreciate our work.

Annams' ability to deliver quality solutions, tailored to meet the clients' operational and business requirements, is the reason for our excellent client-satisfaction rate. Our constant commitment to quality and integrity has made us one of the most respected firms, specializing in database, data warehousing, and client-server technology consulting. Our innovative concepts and techniques allow us to minimize the risk associated with projects by confronting the issues related to major changes in systems architecture, corporate direction, and business operation.

Perhaps the most important differentiator for Annams is that in addition to our project consulting practice, we are a product company. Annams acquired Sunflower Systems in August 2000, and integrated that product unit into our day-to-day business operations. Sunflower Assets™ is a product suite that allows enterprises to track and manage all of their physical assets throughout their entire lifecycle. Initially developed to meet the needs of federal government agencies, Sunflower has over 20 customers. Annams has invested in building a world-class product development infrastructure, which includes product enhancement and development teams, a new product development team, training and technical services, implementation services, and help desk and customer support services.

Annams has extensive experience in analyzing, designing, and developing database solutions with demonstrated success. At present we are involved in several such projects at different client sites. Based on our experience, Annams has developed a customized approach that tailors the solution to client needs and provides the maximum return to the client on their investment.
